

OLD GRAY MULE IS EXPENSIVE

The Costs Stacking up In Litigation Over a Forty Dollar Animal.

PURCHASED BY SEYMOUR MAN

Claims Animal Has "Heaves" and Brought Suit To Recover Purchase Price.

Some one is billed to own an expensive mule and one whose age, condition of health and general figure do not commend the aforesaid mule to persons who are particular as to what kind of long eared animals line up in front of their corn cribs in these days of high priced mule menues. There came up for trial in the circuit court Monday the case in which John Jackson of this city sought to recover from the Boicourt brothers of Hamilton township $20 in cash and the cancellation of a $20 note which two sums represent the price of an old gray mule which Jackson bought of the defendants last August. Jackson claimed that the men who sold him the mule warranted it to be all right and a good worker but that when he brought it home and put it to work that the animal at once developed symptoms of being possessed of a genuine, all wool, blown in the bottle case of "bull heaves," that it was in fact a regular "heaver" or "roarer" in the language of mule experts. The defendants declared they never warranted the mule but simply showed the mule to Jackson and told him to judge for himself as to its being worth the $40 and that he bought it under such conditions. Twenty-five or thirty witnesses were present Monday to testify in the case. The costs have already amounted to considerable more than the value of the mule as represented by the cost price. The trial of the case was not concluded Monday but was continued until today.

INCREASE SHOWN By Receiver's Report In Net Earnings of I. & L. Line.

The report for December, 1911, of John E. Greeley as receiver for the Indianapolis & Louisville Traction Company, filed in the federal court, shows net earnings for the road for last month of $5,439.26, an increase of $4,905.48 as compared with December of the preceding year. The gross earnings last month were $11,042.67, an increase of $542.09, and the operating expenses were $5,603.41, a decrease of $1,363.39. The report further shows that the gross earnings for the year ending December 31, 1911, were $131,768.45; operating expenses, $72,206.59, and net earnings $59,561.86 for the year as compared with the preceding year being $6,209.04. It is explained that of the increase in net earnings for the year 77 per cent. was made in the six months of the receivership, the latter half of the year.

THE ADOPTION OF A NEW PLAN

Providing For Mid-year Promotion in The Seymour Public Schools.

ADVANTAGES TO BE DERIVED

Supt. J. A. Linke Discusses The Proposition.—Tried In Other Schools.

The announcement was made Saturday that a plan, which provides for mid-year promotions in the city schools, has been adopted to take effect next year. The announcement has occasioned considerable favorable comment. Supt. J. A. Linke, discussing the proposition says: Mid-year promotions has been a much discussed subject. It has been thoroughly tried out in the state of Indiana and wherever tried, school authorities and patrons are very enthusiastic in praise of its value. The Seymour schools have been slow to adopt mid-year promotions but since it has proven a success in many other places we have agreed to try it out in our schools. It is a good thing to let others try the new fads in education and adopt them when they have proven a success. There are two things we wish for our children when they enter school. First, we want our boys and girls to get thoroughly what the school offers in its course of study and second, to get it as quickly as possible. An idea, and a mistaken one, with a great many of us is that we wish to sacrifice the first for benefit of the second. We want our boy to get through school as quickly as possible, whether or not he gets thoroughly the subject studied. We have often heard the criticism (and a just one) that children after graduating, know very little arithmetic, geography, etc. This is because the first idea has been sacrificed to accomplish the second. The right way to think of this matter is to desire the child to get thoroughly what the school has to give even at the sacrifice of time and expense. The child should form habits of thoroughness rather than habits of doing things by halves and getting things in such a way that will prove of little value in after life. The mid-year promotions is meant to help the child in the two ways mentioned above and more especially in the second. If a boy fails in his grade, instead of having to take the work for another year, he may be able to be promoted in a half year. But as we have it now he would have to stay in the grade two years. Boys often get discouraged when they think they have to stay in the same grade another whole year but if it is only a half term, it does not look so bad. It is not only a good thing for the slow pupil but also for the bright one as well. A child should not be held back when he is able to advance but because a whole grade is too much to skip he is kept back. He can advance a half grade more easily than a whole year so can be put ahead. Let us insist that our child, above all things, get thoroughly what the school has to offer and then, as American people will have it, get it as quickly as possible.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

PASS IT ON!

Have you had a kindness shown?

Pass it on.

'Twas not done for you alone.

Pass it on.

Let it echo down the years.

Let it dry another's tears.

Till in heaven it reappears.

Pass it on.

A story goes with the well known poem "Pass It On."

Mark Gray Pearce, a well known English preacher, when a boy in Paris spent all his money except sufficient to pay his passage across the channel on the boat.

When meal time came the lad was ravenously hungry. After he had eaten the steward presented his bill. There was no money. The steward declared he would hold the boy's baggage for payment.

"What is your name?"

Upon being told the steward's face changed. He asked the name and residence of the boy's father, whereupon he grasped young Pearce's hand and said he would be only too glad to pay the bill himself.

Some years before, it appears, the father of Pearce had done a great kindness for the steward's widowed mother. Said Pearce's father:

"You see how a kind deed travels. It's your turn now. See that you pass it on."

Some years later Mr. Pearce while buying a railroad ticket saw a lad pleading with the ticket seller to let him have a ticket. The boy said his father was very ill. Upon receiving the telegram to come at once he had hurried to the train and had forgotten to bring the money.

Like a flash came the words of Mr. Pearce's father, "Pass it on."

Immediately he stepped up and bought a ticket for the boy, who was both delighted and astonished. Mr. Pearce explained and said:

"It's your turn now. Pass it on."

The boy gladly promised. When Mr. Pearce went home he told both stories to his father-in-law, Mr. Burton, who thereupon wrote the poem whose refrain is, "Pass it on."

Most of us have been recipients of an unusual kindness. We should—

Pass it on.

You and I and all of us are individual links in the chain of life. If each of us will pass on the kindness shown, the circle when complete will be a part of that "golden chain that binds the whole world to the throne of God."

The Right Step.

I agree with all socialist movements that have for their object the betterment of man, but they generally make the great mistake of not taking the right step first.—Rev. J. W. Chapman, Evangelist, Buffalo.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THOUGHTFULNESS is always doing little kindnesses; thoughtfulness has an instinct for seeing the little things that need to be done and then for doing them. —Ruskin.

FROSTINGS AND ICINGS.

The secret of good frosting is to have it creamy underneath and glossy on top. The way that appearance is secured is to have the frosting as soft as is possible without running off of the cake.

If the following directions are carefully followed a soft, creamy frosting will result: Boil together one and a half cups of sugar and three-fourths of a cup of water until it hairs when dropped from the tines of a fork. Pour over the well-beaten whites of two eggs beaten until foamy, but not stiff; beat until stiff enough to spread without running off. Flavor and, if the frosting seems too stiff, add a teaspoonful of cream to thin it.

For a quick frosting, the white of an egg, beaten stiff; add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a cupful of powdered sugar, added a little at a time. Beat well for five minutes, then spread over the cake.

Fruit Filling.—Put a cup of seeded raisins, a half pound of blanched almonds, a half pound of figs, a half pound of dates and a quarter of a pound of citron twice through the meat chopper, and add enough boiled frosting to make a paste to spread.

Pineapple Filling.—Dissolve a teaspoonful of gelatin in a little pineapple juice, add a half cup of grated pineapple, enough lemon juice to make it pleasantly tart, and very stiff boiled frosting to make sufficient quantity.

Gentlemen's Favorite.—Beat two whites of eggs until stiff, add a half cup of sugar and the pulp and juice of a large, tart apple, grated. Beat until firm enough to spread; cover the top of the cake with the same.

Delicious Filling.—A cup each of sour cream, brown sugar boiled until waxy, then add a cup of hickory nut meats; stir until cool and flavor with a little vanilla.

Brown sugar and sweet cream or maple sugar and cream makes a good filling with or without nuts.

Bulls in Parliament.

The Irish bull has crossed the St. George's channel and is at large in Britain. Major Archer-Shea, who is a Unionist and represents an English constituency, is somewhat Irish. In discussing the insurance bill he set the house of commons in a roar by declaring: "Not even the Stygian eloquence of the chancellor of the exchequer will enable him to whitewash a bill which is now a white elephant to him." Mr. Birrell is credited with a fine Hibernian bullock, thoroughly English as he is. He was being questioned about some newspaper interview in which he claimed to have been "misrepresented" and solemnly assured the house that "the newspaper reports were highly garbled accounts of what never took place." There is, after all, a fine touch in this that our statesmen never attain, and is much better than the ugly, vulgar little word of three letters.

Self-Evident.

"There is one bit of decoration I know they had in that famous Russian ice palace."

"What was it?"

"A fine frieze."

IS HITCHCOCK AN INDISPENSABLE?

Washington Gossip Emphasizes His Hold On Taft.

WAN S TO AVOID OPEN BREAK

Postmaster General's Sensational Publicity of Government Ownership Scheme Without Indorsement or Knowledge of President Creates Impression That Hitchcock Is in Position to Put on Independent Airs.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Calling on him to explain why, without consulting him, he had announced publicly that he would recommend to congress the taking over by the United States government of all the telegraph lines of the country, President Taft summoned Frank H. Hitchcock, his postmaster general, to the White House. Mr. Hitchcock replied that he had intended to confer with Mr. Taft on the subject, but after having made arrangements for publication, was hurriedly called out of town. He recalled to Mr. Taft's mind that he had discussed the government ownership question with him a year ago when he (Hitchcock) had embodied it in a preliminary draft of his annual report.

President Taft accepted Mr. Hitchcock's explanation and the talk of an immediate break between them has been allayed. It remains, however, for Mr. Taft still to say whether he will accept or reject Postmaster General Hitchcock's plan for government ownership of telegraphs. Everything in Mr. Taft's record of utterances indicate that he will reject it. He has declared repeatedly against the government ownership idea as applied to the railroads of the country on the ground that it would place too great a power in the hands of the president. "We have enough concentrated power at Washington now," was the president's declaration in a western speech a year or so ago when he was discussing the government ownership idea.

Mr. Hitchcock's government ownership recommendation will come before the president formally in Mr. Hitchcock's annual report, which will reach the president in a few days. The smoothing of the trouble is therefore merely a postponement of the "evil day." If Mr. Hitchcock is turned down by the president after the publicity episode the crisis that has been imminent in the Taft cabinet for some time may be reached.

The present development at the White House has not altered the fact that the relations between Mr. Taft and the postmaster general are strained. The bald truth is that President Taft and some of his advisers want to avoid any open break with Mr. Hitchcock. They realize that Hitchcock still has a strong control over southern Republicans and that the enforced retirement of Hitchcock from the cabinet might endanger the president's hold on the delegates from the south. Furthermore, it would precipitate a row in the Republican national committee that might work grave harm to Mr. Taft's chances.

This feeling of Mr. Taft and some of his advisers that Hitchcock is indispensable has strengthened Hitchcock's own grip on the south and has made him probably more independent than he might otherwise be.

MERGER OF BIG WIRE COMPANIES QUERIED

Department of Justice Making Quiet Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The investigation that the department of justice has been conducting into the American Telephone and Telegraph company is nearing completion. Many complaints were made against this company when the merger of the Bell Telephone company, the Western Union company and other minor concerns took place and the government undertook an investigation to ascertain if this company was violating the Sherman anti-trust law. Officials of the department of justice believe that the telephone service of the country is one thing that is more efficient as a monopoly, but they believe it ought to be closely regulated by the government. In view of complaints, however, an investigation was undertaken. No intimation has been given out by the department of justice as to what action the department will take.

BIG NEW CAVERN

Another Natural Wonder Opens Out in Southern Indiana.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—Edward Barrett, state geologist, is preparing to make a survey of the newly discovered Danner natural cave near Codydon, Harrison county. H. A. Buerk, superintendent of the schools at New Albany, recently undertook to explore the cave, but met with an accident before he had completed his work. He has reported to Mr. Barrett that while not so large as the Wyandotte cave, it has some caverns larger than any at Wyandotte. The cave was discovered a few weeks ago by workmen in a stone quarry.

The department of justice is making a country-wide investigation of the affairs of the Bell Telephone company for information bearing on an alleged monopoly which the company is said to control.

NEW WAGE SCALE WILL BE FORCED

Miners Say Cost of Living Demands Increase.

NOT AGREED AS TO AMOUNT

Though All the Delegates to Convention Will Insist on an Advance in the Mining Scale, They Vary in Their Demands, Some Saying That a 5 Per Cent Increase Will Be Sufficient, While Others Want 20.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—At the initial session of what is believed to be one of the most important conventions in the history of the organization, 1,300 delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America were present today. The leading miners from every state are a unit in expressing a determination to demand an increased wage scale, but they differ radically in the amount that will be demanded, some of them wanting as high as 20 and others as low as 5 per cent advance.

There is no longer any doubt as to the result of the election. According to the best obtainable information, John P. White is re-elected president over Thomas L. Lewis, former president, by a majority of something like 40,000, and the majority of Frank J. Hayes for re-election as vice president over Samuel Pascoe of Illinois is about the same. Edwin Perry had no opposition for re-election as secretary-treasurer, so he received the full vote. The tellers have not given out any information on the subject, but these figures are believed to be approximately correct.

Both Wage Scales Expire.

The vast importance of the convention this year to the more than a quarter of a million union miners is largely in the fact that for the first time in the history of the organization the wage scale agreements in anthracite and bituminous mining fields will expire March 31, and new wage scale agreements will have to be negotiated before that time. This means that the convention will have to determine on the scale for the central competitive bituminous field and make recommendations for the wage to be negotiated at the conference of the anthracite operators and miners.

The miners will insist upon an advance in the mining wage scale because they say the cost of living has increased greatly in the last ten years, while their wages have remained the same under the award of the anthracite commission. It is expected that the anthracite miners will be supported in this demand for an increase by all of the members of the miners' organization with all of its resources.

GIRLS EXPELLED

From Schools For Membership in Secret Societies.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—Thomas M. Honan, attorney general, in response to a query from the school authorities at Columbus in regard to the power of school boards and superintendents to expel or suspend pupils who violate the law or rules of the board as to membership in high school fraternities or sororities, has referred to an opinion on the subject by James Bingham, his predecessor, given to the state superintendent of public instruction Feb. 13, 1909, which he indorsed. In that opinion Mr. Bingham held the school authorities had the right to expel or suspend pupils for taking part in secret organizations, either within or outside the school, if, in the opinion of the authorities, such steps were deemed necessary to the welfare of the school. The law providing against secret societies in public schools was enacted in 1907.

The question arose in Columbus when three high school girls were sent home because they refused to drop their membership in a Greek letter society. Mr. Honan's opinion sustained the school authorities.

Hugh McGowan's Successor.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—Robert I. Todd, general manager of the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal company, was made president of the company to succeed the late Hugh J. McGowan, and Ferdinand Winter takes Mr. McGowan's place on the board of directors.

Froze to Death in Haymow.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 16.—The body of an unidentified old man who wore a Grand Army button, was found in a hay barn on the John H. Bass farm, west of the city. It is supposed the man went there to gain shelter and froze to death.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

SAN FRANCISCO SCENE OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION 1915

STARTING WORK ON THE NATION'S BIG PANAMA EXPOSITION

Every Country on Earth to Be Represented at the Greatest World's Fair in History. Eighty Million Dollars to Be Expended on National Celebration.

Composite Fleet of Navies of the World to Pass Through Panama Canal and Enter San Francisco Harbor. What the Great Fair Will Be Like.

WITHIN a few weeks' time thousands of men and teams will be engaged in leveling off the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International exposition site in San Francisco, and it is estimated that within six months 10,000 men will be employed in the construction of the material part of the great exposition at which the United States of America will celebrate the opening of the Panama canal. Responses to invitations to participate and offers of co-operation from every part of the world are flooding the exposition management, and President C. C. Moore and his thirty directors, who represent every important interest on the coast and $1,000,000,000 in invested capital, are working night and day to keep up with the avalanche of duties that pour in upon them.

Responses of foreign countries surpass all anticipations of the exposition management. Every civilized nation on earth, every land within the sweep of both shores of the Pacific ocean and every state in the Union will be represented by the finest assemblage of displays the world has ever seen. "San Francisco," says President Moore, "as hostess for the nation will entertain the world in 1915 with the most comprehensive exposition in history, a jubilee of nations, a splendid commemorative celebration, which shall include not only the finest features of all former world's expositions in recording the progress of the world, but yet in magnificence, in diversity, in its distinctive color of the west, of the orient and of all the countries bordering upon the Pacific ocean will stand alone. The nations of the world will see the finest American displays ever shown at the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

"The plans of the people of the west for the Panama-Pacific International exposition are being undertaken upon a scale of world education and interest, and the exposition is the subject of enthusiastic co-operation in every land upon the earth. San Francisco is preparing to meet the standards of a great national celebration. Every land under the stars and stripes will be represented, and the nations of the world are intensely interested in the Panama canal, America's gift to civilization, and in the exposition at which America will formally celebrate the opening of the canal. This universal interest has assured the most remarkable world's exposition in point of size, diversity and specific interest ever held."

The opening of the Panama canal will not only be the most important commercial event in the history of the world, but it will mark a supreme epoch in the lives of the nations bordering upon the Pacific, and appropriately the visitor will see in the exposition the greatest displays of strange tribes and peoples of the Pacific ocean countries ever assembled.

Down the streets of San Francisco in exposition days will pass such oriental pageants as the world has never seen. China, Japan, the Philippines, India and other oriental lands will join in parades that will rival the Indian durbars in magnificence and surpass the durbars in variety by reason of the many nations represented.

The exposition will formally open with the entrance into San Francisco harbor of a composite fleet of the battleships of the world. Upon invitation of the United States nearly 100 warships of foreign nations will first assemble at Hampton Roads and will be joined by detachments of the American navy, and the composite fleet will then be reviewed by the president and by foreign dignitaries. This fleet, the largest ever assembled, will proceed through the Panama canal, arriving in San Francisco harbor about two weeks after the exposition opens.

The exposition will be held upon the shores of San Francisco bay and of the Pacific ocean and will occupy an area of more than 1,600 acres. The grounds will describe a semicircle about San Francisco, following the contours of the shore from the harbor out to and beyond the Golden Gate. The structures will be the largest and costliest ever erected for a world's exposition.

The two principal locations of the exposition will be at Harbor View and in Golden Gate park. Harbor View lies as a crescent on San Francisco bay midway between the ferry building, the principal entrance to San Francisco, and the Golden Gate. Golden Gate park fronts the Pacific ocean one mile below the famous Cliff House. These two main sites and intermediate locations will be connected by a marine boulevard that will skirt the shores of San Francisco bay and also by an intermural railroad. A trackless trolley will run over the boulevard. Harbor View is within twenty minutes' walk of the Fairmont hotel and the most extensive apartment house section of San Francisco.

At Harbor View will be located a yacht harbor, the Midway and night life of the exposition and many concessions that lend themselves to night illuminations as well as great buildings to house such heavy exhibits as may be readily unloaded from ocean going vessels, such as the structures to contain the manufactures and machinery exhibits, the Palace of Liberal Arts and other industrial features.

Golden Gate park will be the seat of the permanent features of the exposition. With an area of more than a thousand acres Golden Gate park, forested and created of sand dunes, today presents one of the most notable achievements in landscape gardening in the world. The west end of Golden Gate park, comprising 540 acres, will be utilized for exposition purposes. Around a great stadium, already built, will be erected a huge concrete coliseum, the largest structure of its kind in America, capable of seating 75,000 people and in architecture like that at Rome. A chain of lakes at different levels will be connected by a working model of the Panama canal.

Lincoln park, where the Golden Gate rounds out into the Pacific ocean, commands a panorama of the Pacific ocean, of San Francisco harbor and of the hills of the city. Its area is 150 acres, and its contours rise more than 300 feet above sea level. At Lincoln park will be erected a great commemorative statue welcoming ships to the Golden Gate. Tentative plans for St. Francis memorial tower call for a structure 850 feet in height, with a base 200 feet square. The top of the tower will be almost 1,300 feet above the waters of the Golden Gate.

From Lincoln park the boulevard, turning south toward Golden Gate park, will pass through an area of 200 acres that have been secured by the directors for exposition purposes. Here will be located the foreign buildings, live stock exhibits, mining, horticulture and agriculture and other displays requiring extensive space.

PANAMA-PACIFIC TO BE THE GREATEST OF ALL EXPOSITIONS

FOLLOWING the battleship parade into San Francisco harbor at the opening of the Panama-Pacific International exposition there will be a program of events of world interest and importance in a succession of two months apart interspersed with lesser events—yacht races and motorboat races of an international character for great trophies and cash prizes, aviation meets with the famous bird men of the world, Olympic games in which the athletes of the world will take part, intercollegiate contests, automobile races in which the holders of the world's records will participate in the automobiles of every nation, military maneuvers in which the crack infantry and cavalry of this and other nations will participate upon an extended scale. The location of the exposition gives widest scope for the greatest international sports program in history. The auto races will pass into Golden Gate park before the concrete coliseum, which will have a seating capacity of 75,000 people. The military maneuvers and Olympic games will also be held in the stadium. On San Francisco bay motorboats will vie for the world's records before the Harbor View site of the exposition. The yachtsmen of the world will sail from Europe across the Atlantic to New York and then through the Panama canal to San Francisco.

The Panama-Pacific International exposition was first proposed by Mr. R. B. Hale, a merchant of San Francisco, in 1904. Mr. Hale wrote a letter to the Merchants' association, and the idea took like wildfire. At that time it was anticipated that the canal would be opened in 1913, and 1913 was the date set for the exposition. An organization of the commercial bodies began the preliminary work, but in 1906 came the fire. No one was dismayed. In a shack built over embers hardly cool a

The contributions of China and Japan toward the exposition in magnificence and variety will surpass anything ever seen outside of the orient and even in the far east itself. A con-

Yellowstone National park, Great Salt lake, Puget sound, the inland trip to Alaska, the government's huge reclamation projects in sixteen western states, the Columbia river region, the redwood forests of California, the first of Oregon, the big trees on the approach to the Yosemite, Arizona and New Mexico, youngest of the states; Nevada and some of the greatest mining camps in the world. Perhaps most interesting of all will be the opportunity for a trip through the Panama canal either coming or going.

The reconstruction of San Francisco is one of the greatest miracles within the history of American municipalities. Five hundred and eight city blocks, embracing the principal business and residential portions of the city, were wiped from the earth in 1906. The streets were covered in some places with debris forty feet deep, yet today a stranger to the city would never know from its appearance that a fire had occurred.

The loss through the fire is estimated by insurance underwriters at $400,000,000. To reconstruct San Francisco called for greater wealth than was destroyed by the fire and far exceeded the cost of building the Panama canal. Since the fire $242,000,000 has been expended upon new buildings alone.

Today San Francisco is the newest city in the world. Its buildings represent the latest type of modern reinforced concrete structures. It has more than 1,300 hotels and apartment houses, with accommodations to suit all persons.

In preparing for the Panama-Pacific International exposition hundreds of its emissaries are visiting the regions of the world. Fourteen governors of western states on a 4,000 mile trip through the east on a special train recently called attention to the exposition and became better acquainted with their brothers of the eastern states.

dry goods merchant placed a great sign, "Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915," and this became the battlecry in the fight to build a new city.

Of more than $20,000,000 now appropriated by California $7,000,000 has been raised by popular subscriptions, $4,000,000 is assured through a special act of the legislature permitting the counties to tax themselves for exposition purposes, $5,000,000 was appropriated by the state of California, and San Francisco has voted a bond issue of $5,000,000. This is the largest sum that has ever been raised for a world's exposition at an inland site. But it is only a start.

servative estimate of their combined expenditure toward the exposition is $10,000,000. Hawaii and the Philippines will contribute more than $1,000,000 each.

The Pacific coast of the United States and the whole west will be featured up more extensively than they have been within their history. Side excursions from the main line or stopovers upon any of the eight transcontinental systems terminating upon the Pacific coast will afford the visitor an opportunity to see those attractions of America that appeal to him. To most people the names of these places will carry a picture—the Yosemite, the Grand Canyon of Colorado, the

One of the directors of the exposition is now in Japan. It is said that his majesty the Emperor Mutsuhito will donate the use of the imperial art collection to the exposition. The board of lady managers, of which Mrs. Phoebe Hearst is honorary president, is independently taking up those phases of the exposition that belong particularly to woman's domain.

The setting is being prepared. With impressive exposition structures rising from San Francisco bay, with city and wooded slopes as a background and in the foreground a vast fleet of battleships of the world, the sight will be one of the magnificent spectacles of history.

A poll taken systematically in Lake county by the Lake County Times, among 3,200 voters, shows 981 for Taft, 923 for Roosevelt, 417 for Beveridge, 398 for LaFollette, 72 for Fairbanks, 76 scattering and 430 non-committal. The notable thing about the returns is the strength shown by Beveridge when his name has not been put forward as a presidential quantity. It is the more striking because in Lake County are many foreigners who know only the names of Taft and Roosevelt. In Gary, therefore, Beveridge's vote was small his friends being in the older towns and among the farmers. It is a "straw" vote, but it shows that though he has returned to private life, the people have him in mind.—Indianapolis Star.

It looks as though Crawford Fairbanks or some other representatives of the liquor interests might have taken a hand in fixing the date for the Democratic primary in Jackson county. It will be held on February 22, Washington's birthday. The saloons are compelled to close on days on which primaries are held and they must also lock their doors on Washington's birthday.

By having the primary on the 22 it can be seen that the saloons will avoid the loss of one day's business. A very thoughtful arrangement on the part of some one but an arrangement that is in accord with the Fairbanks party rule this year.

Kentucky Town's Serious Loss.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 16.—Fire came near wiping out the business section of Pembroke. The loss is about $40,000. The blaze started in B. J. Garnett's store. The stores destroyed were the properties of H. C. Whitlow & Bros., McCurley company, B. J. Garnett, M. L. Levy and S. A. Powell. The losses are covered by insurance.

The modern forester undertakes to make orchards profitable. There are orchardists, to be sure, who know very well how to care for their trees and who do care for them; but there are also orchardists that are neglected or handled unskillfully. A housekeeper at Queenstown, Ireland, constabulary barracks while cleaning a codfish about 30 pounds in weight discovered inside the fish a purse containing a number of silver coins of the reign of Queen Victoria. GUARDS CHARGE ON RIOTOUS STRIKERS

Bayonets Were Brought In to Play at Lawrence.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 16.—As the result of the turbulent action of the woolen operatives, who are now on strike to the number of about 15,000, this city is almost an armed camp. Practically all the mills are shut down because of a lack of help, and there are more than 500 militiamen under arms.

Bayonets were used when two local companies of infantry and a battery of artillery that had been waiting in the armory were called on because the rioters refused to be awed by bullets fired over their heads by policemen and had responded in kind. Only one person was seriously injured. This was a Syrian boy who received a bayonet thrust in the side and may not survive. Others of the mob felt the prick of the bayonets through the backs of their coats when they fled before a charge by Captain Rantell's company "L" of the Eighth regiment. Captain Rantell is the military instructor in the Boston public schools and was a student at West Point. Several people were slightly wounded by bullets fired by the strikers.

The strikers demand an increase of 15 per cent in wages, the abolition of the premium, and double pay for all overtime work. These demands are something new, as the strike was started as a protest against not being paid for fifty-six hours' work, although labor for but fifty-four hours was performed in consequence of the new law.

Many arrests have been made and most of the prisoners were found to have revolvers or knives in their pockets. Police Commissioner Lynch has passed out word that there would be shooting to kill if the strikers continued their tactics.

The War Fifty Years Ago

A Decisive Action In Eastern Kentucky --- Colonel J. A. Garfield (Afterward President) Attacks General Humphrey Marshall's Confederates on the Big Sandy Line---Both Sides Claim Victory, but the Confederates Leave Kentucky --- Privateer and Cruiser In a Chase at Sea---General Burnside's North Carolina Expedition---The New Secretary of War---Financing the War the Chief Topic of the Day.

By Captain GEORGE L. KILMER, Late U. S. V.

At the beginning of 1862 the Confederate line in the west extended from Columbus, Ky., on the Mississippi, through Forts Henry and Donelson, in Tennessee, to Bowling Green and Mill Springs, Ky. General Albert Sidney Johnston commanded the Confederate army defending this line, with headquarters at Bowling Green and the base of supplies at Nashville. General Don Carlos Buell, the Federal leader in Kentucky directly opposed to Johnston, planned a movement into Tennessee, and a small Federal force under General George H. Thomas set out from Lebanon, Ky., Jan. 1 to march to the east Tennessee border. At this time there was a force of Confederates in eastern Kentucky under General Humphrey Marshall and Colonel J. S. Williams. Williams was a fighter, Marshall a politician. Williams had earned the sobriquet "Cerro Gordo" at the famous battle of that name in Mexico in 1847.

The object of the Confederates in keeping an army in eastern Kentucky was to help guard the valuable salt mines just over the border in western Virginia and to protect southern recruiting agents who were operating in the mountains roundabout. The force under Marshall and Williams early in January, 1862, numbered somewhere between 2,000 and 5,000 men. Marshall claimed to have 1,800. His enemy said the figures should be doubled, if not trebled. Marshall reported his strength Dec. 30 at 3,000, but on Jan. 3 said that fewer than 2,000 were fit for duty. The troops then consisted of a regiment and a battalion in camp at Prestonburg, on the Big Sandy river, which had been organized in the fall of 1861 by Colonel Williams. The regiment was the famous "ragamuffin regiment," composed of mountain men, the Fifth Kentucky. They were hardy, raw-boned, brave, trained to hardships and armed with long rifles. Colonel Williams had also organized a battalion of mounted riflemen from the blue grass country in central Kentucky, the

This force was augmented by the Fifty-fourth Virginia, under Colonel John H. Trigg; the Twenty-ninth Virginia, under Colonel A. C. Moore, and a battery of field artillery, under Captain W. C. Jeffress.

Soldiers Barefooted In Midwinter. It was a very severe winter, and Marshall's men were poorly clad, many of the soldiers being nearly naked. One regiment had 350 barefooted men and not over 100 blankets for 700 men. The army was not only badly clothed, but in general badly armed. Many of the men had only shotguns and squirrel rifles. Requisitions on the war department at Richmond were not filled for want of supplies, and General Lee wrote that owing to the scarcity of arms he was having pikes made, which he offered to furnish General Marshall for his unarmed troops. The field of operations in eastern Kentucky lay among the Cumberland mountains, along the Big Sandy river, a poor, thinly peopled country. The roads ran along the watercourses between the mountains and were often rendered impassable by high water and during the winter of 1861-2 were ruined by the passage of cavalry, wagons and artillery. Captain Jeffress was once three days moving his battery sixteen miles. Army wagons were sometimes unable to make over four miles a day. An unusual amount of rain fell, drenching the unprotected soldiers. The weather this first winter was the worst of the war in that region, and the scanty rations and great hardships made hundreds of men sick. Besides, the measles and mumps broke out in camps, and many died from these diseases and from exposure. The command at Prestonburg was over a hundred miles from the Confederate base of supplies at Abingdon, Va., with the Cumberland mountains between them. The farms were generally small and poor. During January corn was worth $10 per barrel and had to be hauled thirty miles.

For weeks the soldiers subsisted on mountain beef and parched corn.

On the 17th of December, 1861, General Buell had assigned Colonel James A. Garfield of Ohio to command a brigade in his army and sent him to drive General Marshall out of eastern Kentucky. Colonel Garfield concentrated his forces at Louisa, at the forks of the Sandy, from which place he began his advance movement on the 23d of De-

GENERAL HUMPHREY MARSHALL, C. S. A., CONFEDERATE LEADER AT PRESTONBURG, KY. cember. His army consisted of his own regiment, the Forty-second Ohio, under Lieutenant Colonel L. A. Sheldon; the First squadron, Ohio cavalry, Major William McLaughlin; the Fourteenth Kentucky, Colonel L. T. Moore; the Twenty-second Kentucky, Colonel D. W. Lindsay; Second Virginia cavalry, Lieutenant Colonel W. M. Bolles; the Fortieth Ohio, Colonel Jonathan Cranor, and 300 of Wolford's First Kentucky cavalry, Lieutenant Colonel J. W. Letcher, numbering in all between 2,000 and 3,000 men. Garfield having found the road up the river impassable for wagons, many were taken to pieces and conveyed on boats; others that were empty were pulled by men. His supplies were brought up on steamboats and on push boats.

On the 6th of January, 1862, Garfield arrived within seven miles of Paintsville, where Marshall had established his camp and headquarters. He had with him at the time the Forty-second Ohio and Fourteenth and Twenty-second Kentucky. It had been Marshall's intention to offer battle at Hagar's farm, near Paintsville, but he had intercepted a letter from Garfield to Cranor, who, with his regiment, the Fortieth Ohio, and 300 Kentucky cavalry, was advancing upon Marshall's left and rear from the direction of Salyersville. He then decided to fall back to the forks of Middle creek, where he awaited the approach of the Federal troops. Garfield and Cranor made a junction near Paintsville on the 8th, and all moved up to Marshall's front on the 10th. General Marshall had taken up a strong position along a high ridge south of Middle creek and covering the road to Virginia by way of Beaver creek. Jeffress' battery was placed in a gorge in the left fork of Middle creek. The Fifth Kentucky and the Twenty-ninth Virginia regiments and part of the mounted riflemen of Kentucky formed along the heights to the left of the battery. The Fifty-fourth Virginia occupied a hill near the battery, with two cavalry companies in reserve. Two dismounted cavalry companies were placed across Middle creek on a height commanding the valley not far from Prestonburg.

Garfield Attacks the Heights. Skirmishing between the opposing forces began about 10 o'clock a. m., but the action opened in earnest about noon by an advance of Federal cavalry, supported by infantry. This attack was repulsed, three discharges of the artillery putting the cavalry to flight, according to Marshall's report of the affair. Garfield then endeavored to take the ridge occupied by the Fifth Kentucky and the Twenty-ninth Virginia on the right wing of Marshall's position. He moved his infantry up the side of the mountain and made a desperate attempt to dislodge the Confederate forces commanded by Colonel Williams, but was repulsed. The attack was renewed twice and twice repulsed, according to Marshall's account Garfield reported making persistent attempts, re-enforcing his line, and efforts to prevent Marshall from turning his right flank. The slopes were steep and the crests covered with trees and rocks, which offered good protection to the Confederates. The engagement lasted four hours, both sides claiming the victory and both withdrawing from the battlefield at nightfall. General Marshall estimated Colonel Garfield's forces at 5,000 and states his own at 1,500. His loss was nine killed and fourteen wounded, according to the records, but Garfield reported finding eighty-five Confederate dead.

Marshall Retreats to Virginia. Marshall withdrew next day, taking three days to reach Martin's Mill, on Beaver creek, sixteen miles from the battlefield. This was the nearest point at which he could get bread rations for

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The first installment of Taxes must be paid on or before the FIRST MONDAY in MAY, otherwise the whole tax will be delinquent and subject to penalties. Particular attention is called to the fact that spring payments, having been extended to the first Monday in May, gives the treasurer less time to make settlements, and it will be to the interest of the taxpayers to be as prompt as possible in paying the same. The second installment must be paid on or before the FIRST MONDAY in NOVEMBER following. Road receipts must be presented on or before the FIRST MONDAY in MAY, 1912. They will not be taken on second installment of taxes.

Call on Auditor for irregularities in Taxes or for reductions to be made. Treasurer cannot make such reductions.

County orders cannot be paid to anyone owing delinquent taxes, and all persons are hereby warned against purchasing such order.

The annual sale of delinquent lands and lots will take place on the second Monday in February, 1912, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

Persons desiring statement of their taxes must make their request at least ten days before the last day as we cannot stop to send statements during the last days of collection.

Parties having complications please come before the rush incident to the last days of Taxpaying.

The Treasurer is guided by the Statutes of Indiana, from which there is no relief. Do not ask him to violate his oath. Taxes unpaid after the first Mondays in May and November are subject to the 10 per cent penalty. We intend to follow the law in each and every case. If taxpayers would avoid the penalty prescribed by law, payment must be made not later than Monday, May 6th, and November 4th, 1912. Remittance post marked Monday, May 6th, and November 4th, and reaching this office next day will be accepted.

Persons owing delinquent taxes should pay them at once. The late law is of such a character that there is no option left the Treasurer but to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, however much he may regret to collect the same, by sale of property. Nothing is exempt from taxes.

HENRY PRICE,

Treasurer of Jackson County.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Parties having school fund loan on which interest is delinquent will please give payment of said interest their attention before the first day of March, 1912, as the law compels the prompt collection of said interest.

his men, some of whom had fasted for thirty hours before the action.

General Marshall's forces would have probably been compelled to return to Virginia in order to secure supplies, even if they had not been opposed by an enemy. The occupation of the Sandy valley by Garfield's force so crippled his resources that he could have hardly subsisted his troops among the impoverished mountains. Indeed, Colonel Garfield could not have maintained his position a week without the aid of the river, by which supplies were brought by steamboats. General Marshall was born in Frankfort, Ky., of the distinguished family which included United States Chief Justice John Marshall. Personally he was not adapted to mountain warfare, owing to his great size, nor was he qualified to command volunteers, being the most democratic of men. So well known was his leniency that an officer of his staff agreed to eat the first man that Marshall ordered shot for any crime. Speaking about army dignity and discipline, Marshall said he "regarded these things as the decrepitudes of the military art." General Williams was of different mold—proud, imperious, a born soldier and believer in discipline to its last extremity.

Garfield reported his own loss at Middle creek as one killed and twenty wounded. It is worthy of note as showing the traits of those times that Marshall, writing from the opposite camp on the same day as Garfield, said: "I understand that he (Garfield) will report one killed and ten or twelve wounded, his usual practice. We suppose his loss to be over 250 killed and about 300 wounded. These are the estimates of neighbors." Garfield reported fighting forces, inch by inch, up the steep ridge. "Many of my men had fired thirty rounds," he wrote. Garfield stated his own force engaged on the field as 900 and the enemy "not less than 3,500." General Buell, Garfield's superior, reported Garfield's loss two killed and twenty-five wounded. The affair won the star of brigadier general for Garfield, also his election to congress. He remained in the field, however, nearly two years longer and ended the career so happily begun Jan. 10, 1862, in the White House.

Minor Events of the Week.

On Jan. 8 a Federal force sent out from Romney, Va., defeated Colonel Monroe's Virginia Confederates at Hanging Rock pass. The Virginians abandoned their rifle pits and two cannon in their hasty flight. Jan. 9 the United States sloop of war Tuscarora entered the harbor of Southampton in pursuit of the Confederate privateer Nashville, which was lying at that port. The British government gave the Nashville a twenty-four hour start of her foe, and she escaped to continue her career as a destroyer of United States commerce on the high seas. General Burnside's coast expedition set sail from Annapolis under sealed orders to be opened at sea.

War Finances.

A conference of leading bank commissioners of the country with the secretary of treasury and finance committee of congress about money to carry on the war took place on the 11th. This day General Burnside's coastwise expedition sailed from Hampton Roads under sealed orders to proceed to Hatteras, N. C. United States Secretary of War Simon Cameron resigned, succeeded by E. M. Stanton. The retirement of Mr. Cameron led to considerable comment in political circles. It was said to reveal an important breach in the cabinet councils. Cameron favored emancipation and arming the negroes and had so declared himself officially. This attitude Lincoln had rebuked.

The financial difficulty was the topic of the day. The bankers of the country recommended the issue of interest bearing notes. The government proposed the issue of national currency.

Petitions for emancipation of negro slaves by law of congress were laid before the United States senate on the 13th. Horace Greeley and other radicals urged a proclamation of freedom by the president. This day Burnside's fleet reached Hatteras. Shallow water prevented it from entering Pamlico sound immediately and striking a telling blow before the Confederate troops guarding the coast should get warning of the movement aimed at them.

On Jan. 14 news of the release from prison of the Confederate European commissioners who had been seized and held by the United States reached London and Paris. Stocks went up because war was averted. Conservative Englishmen had no sympathy for the victims of this "affair." Mason and Slidell.

VALUE OF HIDES SHOWED SLUMP

Government Interested In Packingtown Figures.

SUSPICIOUS RELATION HINTED

When Credits Were Practically Nil for Hides, the Prosecution Will Attempt to Show, Prices of Meats Aviated With Suspicious Uniformity—Witness Moyer Subjected to Rapid Fire Interrogation by Federal Examiner.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Henry F. Moyer, chief accountant for Morris & Co., a witness for the government in the trial of the packers for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, was subjected to a rigid examination.

Assistant United States Attorney James Sheehan turned with lightning like rapidity from one page to another of the many account books on hand. With every such move he shot a question at the witness concerning certain entries, or rather the lack of them.

The government showed that hides to the value expressed in five figures were credited in three figures. The sudden dropping of credits for hides the government claimed, was one of the manners in which inflated and excessive values were put upon fresh beef. For instance, in the month of May, 1908, the number of cattle purchased by Swift & Co. was 15,779. Every one of these animals yielded a hide. The average weight of these hides was slightly more than seventy pounds. The price per pound ranged from 18 cents downward, yet the hide credits for May, 1908, were humbly stated at $210. In June of the same year the number of cattle purchased increased 5,000 over the month of May. The hide allowance shrank to $105.50. The government will try to show that when credits were practically nil for hides with all the packers the prices of meats aviated with suspicious uniformity in the houses controlled by the different packing firms.

The prosecution will try to show, it is said, that a steer weighing 1,000 pounds on the hoof when dressed to beef netted 550 pounds of salable meat. The net dressed weight sale price would realize a net profit on the whole the hide, the fat, horns, hoofs and other by-products turning in a grand total of net profits while the public footed the bills. An effort made to secure data made on sales margins noted by the different packing companies signally failed. Witness Moyer could not state when he last saw the books or data bearing on the margins of 1908. He vouchsafed the opinion that they long since had been destroyed or burned.

Special Assessment on Structural Iron Workers Continues.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—It is admitted at the offices of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers that the special assessment of $7,000 a month levied five months ago is still being collected and the money is being raised because of expected trouble. It was not stated what the expected trouble is, but the officers intimate in a circular that the money will be needed to defend one or more persons who may be prosecuted because of their connection with unionism.

Grazed By Starvation Woman Planned Children's Death.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 16.—The murder of five starving children by their mother, Mrs. Andrew Szymanski of Whiting, was prevented by the providential visit of a relative, who found the mother, armed with a butcher knife, about to stab her six-months-old baby. A desperate encounter followed, in which the woman was disarmed.

The family had had neither fuel, clothing nor food for three days. Szymanski, the husband, was found in a saloon. Doctors examined the mother and declared she had gone mad from starvation. She is at St. Margaret's hospital. The husband is under arrest. In a partially sane moment Mrs. Szymanski said she intended killing all her starving children to end their suffering.
